Introduction

The SEN information report for Sutton Grammar school is part of the Sutton local offer for students with Special Educational Needs (SEN). All governing bodies of maintained schools and maintained nursery schools and the proprietors of academy schools have a legal duty to publish information on their website about the implementation of the governing body's or the proprietor's policy for pupils with SEN.

Sutton Grammar School aims to meet the Special Educational Needs of pupils in our school as defined in our school's Special Educational Needs and Disability Policy.

The SEND Code of Practice (2014) defines SEN as:

"A child or young person has SEN if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them. A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if they:

- a) Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age: or
- b) Have a disability which prevents or hinders them, from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post-16 institutions"

If a learner is identified as having SEN, we will provide provision that is 'additional to or different from' the normal differentiated curriculum, intending to remove barriers to their learning.

Our SEN profile for 2019-20 shows we had 67 children receiving some form of SEN support and 7 students who have Education, Health and Care plans. This accounts for a combined total of 7.5% of the school roll, below the national average of 14.9%.

In accordance with the SEND Code of Practice (2014) Children and young people's SEN are thought of in the following broad areas of need and support:

-Communication and interaction

In 2019-20, there were 5 pupils with an Education, Health and Care plan and 18 pupils with SEN support whose primary need is communication and interaction, including Speech, Language and Communication Needs (SLCN) and Autistic Spectrum Disorders (ASD). This accounts for 31.1% of the total SEN register.

Provision for pupils with communication and interaction needs includes Speech and Language Therapy (SLT) and delivery of SLT packages as advised by a Speech and Language Therapist, along with in-house provision of social skills training and social mentoring.

-Cognition and learning

In 2019-20, there were 23 pupils with SEN support whose primary area of need is in Cognition and Learning (Specific learning difficulties, SPLD). This accounts for 31.1% of the total SEN register.

Provision for pupils with needs in cognition and learning includes differentiation of materials and equipment including electronic aids for dyspraxia and coloured overlays, reading guides and writing materials for dyslexia. Individual support has also been provided, where appropriate.

-Social, emotional and mental health

In 2019-20, there were 9 pupils with SEN support whose primary needs concern social, emotional and mental health, including anxiety, depression and Obsessive Compulsive Disorder (OCD). This accounts for 12.1% of the SEN register.

Provision for pupils for whom social, emotional and mental health is an area of need includes access to mentor support, access to the school counsellor, arrangement for provision by external agencies, referrals to CAMHS and medical tuition services.

-Sensory and/ or physical needs

In 2019-20, there were 2 pupils with an Education, Health and Care plan and 17 students with SEN support with sensory and physical needs including visual and hearing impairments and motor control issues. This accounts for 25.7% of the SEN register.

Provision for these pupils is by the use of differentiated practical activities, advice and training for staff from sensory impairment services, differentiation and modification of materials in order to facilitate access to the curriculum and provision of sensory aids including electronic equipment.

Identifying SEN and monitoring provision at Sutton Grammar School

We have internal processes for monitoring quality of provision and assessment of needs. These include:

- Ongoing monitoring by subject teachers and pastoral staff, along with the tracking and reporting of progress with record cards published in November, January and March informs the setting of short-term targets and the review of progress at Parents' Evening. Annual reports are published for students in years 7 to 10 in July and for students in years 11 and 13 in February. Short, written reports are published for pupils in year 12 half-termly
- Where a pupil is not making above expected progress in one or more subject areas, there may be additional contact between the school and home.
- Reviewing progress and support for students with additional support needs. The frequency and nature of these reviews will be decided, as appropriate for the needs of the student.
- Documenting additional support made available to pupils with SEN in their IPM (individual provision map). These are evaluated regularly in conjunction with classroom teachers, Heads of Year and SENDCO

- Discussions with key staff, parents/carers and the pupil may lead to support from external providers being sought for children continuing to experience significant difficulty.

For some learners we may seek advice from specialist teams and the school works with a number of external agencies, including:

- Autism Spectrum Disorder Service
- Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service
- Educational Psychology Service
- Jigsaw4U and other voluntary services
- MASH (Multi Agency Support Hub)
- Occupational Therapy
- School counsellor
- School Nurse
- Sensory Impairment Service
- Social Care
- Special Educational Needs Team
- Speech, Language & Communication Service
- Assessment for exam access arrangements

Supporting Learners with SEN at Sutton Grammar School

Every teacher is required to adapt the curriculum to ensure access to learning for all children in their class (Teachers' Standards 2011, Department for Education). At Sutton Grammar School, teachers' planning for lessons is based around prior attainment of individuals and groups within the class, including individual pupils with SEN. Grouping arrangements are carefully coordinated to maximise learning opportunities. Additional adult support may be used to help groups or individuals in group tasks and with private study, aiming to facilitate inclusion and promote independence. We differentiate the curriculum to support students with special educational needs and a lighter programme with fewer GCSE subjects can be employed in exceptional circumstances.

Information about each pupil with SEN is held on the SEN register. The SEN register is accessible to all staff and is updated regularly with personalised differentiation and guidance strategies provided. The register is amended by the SENDCO on an ongoing basis, after consultation with the pastoral team. We also keep a list of students of concern for pupils who do not meet the threshold for SEN support, but who we feel may require enhanced monitoring and guidance.

In accordance with the 2014 SEND Code of Practice, pupils with SEN may have objectives set for them that are 'additional to' or 'different from' those normally provided as part of the differentiated curriculum. This may lead to teachers anticipating and encouraging different and personalised outcomes from learners working with the same lesson content.

Some pupils may also meet regularly with a member of teaching staff to review academic progress and the findings from these meetings are used to provide additional guidance to teaching staff to help the pupils in accessing the curriculum.

Tests and Examinations: Access Arrangements

We follow the JCQ (Joint Council Qualification) criteria in screening for special arrangements for examinations. Certain access arrangements can be made only after specialist assessment. These then must be made part of the normal classroom practice for the student in the subject in which the access arrangements for examinations are to be applied. Examples of the access arrangements currently being made include:

- Use of Word processors
- Large print examination papers
- Coloured exam papers
- Extra Time
- Rest breaks
- Quiet exam room

Access to Premises and Facilities

There are no students in the school whose disability would prevent their access to any learning environment within the school. Sutton Grammar fulfils all duties under the Equality Act 2010, and strives to continue to improve the physical environment of the school for the purpose of increasing the extent to which disabled pupils are able to take advantage for education and benefits facilities or services provided. (Schedule 10, Equality Act, 2010).

The school buildings are of varied ages and there is currently no lift access to the science laboratories. Once a student has been offered a place at our school, an access plan for students with disabilities will be completed so that reasonable adjustments can be made to enable the student to participate fully in school life.

Social and Emotional Support

There is a strong ethos of pastoral care in our school and form tutors are the first point of contact. The House system (five houses) is very active in encouraging competition and team spirit. Students will remain in their form and house from year 7 to year 11. Older boys in the same house provide some support, as prefects, and when students in year 12 are attached to a lower school form.

Some students may be allocated a sixth form mentor, who will help with general school issues and can also provide social and emotional support. Some students may be supported with social skills training in small groups, led by experienced teachers with expertise in special needs education. There is access to specialist support, e.g. from CAMHS (Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services) in areas such as anxiety and behaviour and there is access to support, e.g. from Cognus Speech Language and Communication Needs Service for speech, language and Communication needs and the school's ELSA for emotional regulation. The school also has a full time Pastoral Support Officer, who supports pupils with a wide range of issues, including anxiety and health concerns, and pupils can also be referred to the school counsellor for support.

The school is a safe place at break and lunch times, with members of staff on duty in all parts of the school during these times. Senior members of staff are also visible before school to provide a clear point of contact. The school provides an extensive extra-curricular programme, including activities at lunch and after school. These are inclusive of many students including those with SEN.

Bullying

The comprehensive school policy concerning bullying and harassment can be found on the school website. National evidence suggests that SEN students are more likely to experience bullying than their peers and so there are additional monitoring strategies in place. ## Transition

Students joining our school who have special educational needs will have careful transition arrangements. These may be decided after consultation with the previous school, parents/carers, the pupil and key staff at our school. A transition meeting may be necessary, along with visits to the previous school and observations of the student in that setting. This year we welcomed a number of children and young people with special educational needs or disabilities.

The majority of students at our school go on to study for undergraduate degrees at higher education institutions such as universities. Support for students who are making this transition is available and information can be provided to the university to enable the continuation of support.

Students moving between year groups and key stages will have support from the pastoral team in the school. Where a change of form tutor occurs, there is a continuation of support and the transfer of key information occurs in a meeting between the existing and the next tutor. This year we have helped support students in their transition to our school and between key stages.

Staff development

All new staff and trainee teachers are briefed fully on SEN policies, programmes and procedures, as part of their induction. The SENDCO is responsible for the delivery of an on-going programme of INSET.

This year we have had whole school INSET training provided by Local Authority experts including training delivered by the Sensory Impairment Services.

Discussions on concerns and strategies for SEND pupils are on the agenda for LSA regular meetings and a wide range of resources are available to all members of staff concerning specific SEN strategies.

Learning Support Assistants receive in-house INSET annually on SEND and LA experts deliver a programme of support when needed to address current issues. This has included support from the ASD service and training by Speech, Language and Communication Needs Service.
