TEACHING AWARDS EDITION - NOVEMBER 2023

Mrs Trentinella is a Gold Winner at the Pearson National Teaching Awards

At a prestigious gala ceremony on Saturday, 25 November, our Head of Art, Mrs Trentinella, was announced as the recipient of the Pearson National Teaching Gold Award for Digital Innovator of the Year.

This well deserved recognition reflects Mrs Trentinella's unwavering commitment to transforming the lives of the children she works with daily. Her groundbreaking work includes the development of an innovative curriculum and the pioneering integration of cutting-edge technologies such as stereoscopy, artificial intelligence and robotics throughout the entire Art and Photography curriculum, spanning Years 7 to Year 13.

Mrs Trentinella's introduction of a drawing robot has not only facilitated exploration at the intersection of art, design and computer science, but has also provided students with invaluable insights into coding, robotics and automation. This forward-thinking approach not only prepares students for the future job market but also aims to shift mindsets about the value of the arts and potential careers.

Mrs Trentinella's achievement is particularly noteworthy as she was among thousands of nominations and won one of just 16 coveted Gold Awards.
